Introduction

Vedic palmistry is closely related with astrology, philosophy and human psychology ^[1]. The psychological attitude of a subject determines the life incidents coming ahead. As the researches suggest our conscious mind tells the present and past while subconscious mind discloses the future; our own thoughts attitude makes a path towards success. There are no two hand that are similar as there are no two minds with same thoughts and attitude ^[2]. The subconscious mind knows the past, present and future; it also stores all the thoughts and responds accordingly ^[3]. The subconscious memory stores the karma of previous birth and our present actions add more to it which determines the mental attitude of the subject ^[4]. As you sow, so you reap. Therefore, our karmic accounts and present thoughts build up a particular personality and attitude which decides subjects popularity in a distinct area. Let us look at some basic concepts of palmistry. The mount of sun or Apollo indicative of personality, ambition, fame, distinction and success of the individual and we look at the sun line for high post and respectful position in a society as it is governed by Apollo mount itself. Also, we analyze sun mount and its line to know the hidden talents and potential of the individual ^[5]. When we say the mentality of person reveals his destiny, we must look at the head line to get an idea of the quality of intelligence and the type of mentality of the subject. Apart from the lines and mounts we look at some basic signs like square, triangle, cross bar etc. and some advanced Indian palmistry signs like conch, lotus, flag, fish etc. A scripture of Indian hand analysis Hasta-Samudrika Shastra considers the flag as an auspicious sign for fame and success ^[6]. The highbreed combination of a triangle and a vertical line resembles a shape of flag.

The Flag of Fame

If the mercury line, head line and an influence line from any mount makes a small triangle such that it would resemble the shape of a flag then that is called as flag of fame or the mercury flag as shown in the figure-1. The reason behind such name is; if a person has this sign on his dominant hand then that person would achieve worldwide fame and the subject would be a master in his area. Why this is so? As we know a flag is the combination of a triangle and a straight line. The triangle generally signifies material progress and success as it is looked as a reservoir of energy ^[7]. Here the triangle is made by three lines; these three lines provides their energy into that triangle.

So, the triangle accumulates intellectual power from head line; business acumen, leadership quality and health from mercury line; the influence line supplies extra energy that would decide in which area the subject will be famous. Then the triangle along with mercury line resembles the shape of a flag which provides every possibility that are required to shine the stars of the subject.

They both are from different schools of philosophy but one thing common in their hand was The Flag of Fame as shown in figure-2 and figure-3 and the flag has been illustrated in figure-4. As earlier it has been told that the secondary line or the influence line shows the area in which the subject will be famous; here we can see in Cheiro’s palm that the secondary line is the intuition line itself hence he got worldwide reputation in the field of occult sciences like palmistry, astrology etc. And in Einstein’s hand the secondary line is an influence line from mount of mars which governs science and research area therefore, he is a legendary figure in the field of science.

- The flag and triangle should not be confused with other signs like fish, square, drum etc. as shown in the figure-5[A].

- The area in which the subject would get fame is determined by the mounts from which the secondary line has been originated. This has been explained in the table below.
