Soul Identification and Application in Prediction of Happenings

Dr. Pijush Kanti Bhattacharjee

Abstract

It is told that the soul or spirit of a living being is everlasting and not bounded by space and time. Modern science does not believe on the existence of soul and the reality of the soul from a dead living being taking place in rebirth. In Hindu religious literatures such as Vedas, Upanishads, Puranas, Ramayana, Mahabharata, Bhagavad Gita and Yogas etc., the characteristics and activities of the soul are clearly described. Also in all other religious literatures like Tripitaka, Bible, Quran etc. the presence of soul in a living body and after death is deliberated. In this paper, detailed study of soul is delineated from different point of views. The existence of a soul can be established by planchette process with the help of living persons as mediums or carriers. So many types of information about past and future happenings can be known from the soul of a dead person in planchette, although correctness of the future predictions depends on the knowledge of the incoming dead person. It is determined from Modern Quantum Theory of physics that actually a soul is waves like electromagnetic waves having fixed very high frequency and very low wavelength range with a very low potential or voltage. Hence, soul is never ending after death of a living being, and it bears the acquaintance of the living being for an indefinite period of time.

1. Introduction

The little word 'Soul is Eternal' – after death the existence of a living being does not vanish from this world, its soul is moving inside and outside the earth for an indefinite period of time. Those do not believe the existence after death, they feel that death is the last stage of a life, but today in this scientific age, some facts are not able to explain in a correct innovative scientific way. It is expected that in the coming age, the existence of soul and its activity will be brought out in more scientific experimental method, by that way people will be aware about soul and existence of a living being after death. In ancient Indian Hindu religious literatures such as Vedas, Upanishads (called Vedanta, i.e., précis of Vedas), Puranas, Ramayana, Mahabharata, Bhagavad Gita and Yogas etc. cultured the nature of soul in more sophisticated manner^[1-8]. Most of the Indian Hindu religious books were written in Sanskrit language which was the main language of Arya people. In the Bhagavad Gita, Lord Krishna (Vishnu) described soul and its nature in a very simple understanding manner like below^[6-7]:

Abinashi Tu Tadbidhi Yana Sarbamidang Tatam |
Binashamabayasayasya Na Kaschitkaturmaharti ||

(in Sanskrit language)

[In the Gita, Sankhyayoga sloke 17]

It means – Soul is alone to be imperishable which pervades this universe; for that no one has power to destroy this imperishable being, i.e., indestructible.

Na Jayate Mriyate Ba Kadachit |
Nayang Bhutya Bhabita Ba Na Bhuyo ||
Ajo Nitya Shasatyahayang Purano |
Na Hanyate Hanyamane Sarire ||

[Sankhyayoga sloke 20]

It means – The soul is never born and it never dies; nor does it become after being born. For this, it is unborn, eternal, everlasting and primeval; even though when the body is slain, the soul is not slain.

Then Lord Krishna describes the soul in more detailed analysis such as –

Nainang Chidannti Sashtani Nainang Dahati Pabaka |
Na Chainang Cledayanantyapo Na Shosoyati Maruta ||
[Sankhyayoga sloke 23]

It means – Weapons cannot cut soul (it) nor can fire burn it; water cannot wet it nor can wind dry it.

Achedayahaemadahoyhaemakledayahososhya Abo Cha |
Nitya Sarbogato Sthanurchalohayang Sanatana ||
[Sankhyayoga sloke 24]

It means – For the above reasons, this soul is incapable of being cut, or burnt by fire; nor can it be dissolved by water and is undrivable by air as well; this soul is eternal, all-pervading, immovable, unified, constant and everlasting.

We can get clear idea of soul from the above description given by Lord Krishna in the Bhagavad Gita. It is still now unexplained by modern scientists and technologists. On the other hand prior to Bhagavad Gita in Vedas, Upanishads and Puranas etc. of Hindu religious literatures in India, the detailed discussion on soul was narrated ^[1-8]. From there we can have the real theme and characteristics of soul. For example, in the Isha Upanishad, it was told ^[2] –

Anejdekang Manso Jabio Nainadebba Apluban Purbamarsat |
Tardabatohanyanteyti Tishtat Tashminanapo Matrishba
Dadhati ||

(In Sanskrit language)

It means – Soul (Brahma), being unique and motionless, is moving with velocity greater than mind; Gods or different sensitive organs of a living body cannot catch it (soul), because it travels very fast speed and before all; consequently it overtakes all fastest forces in the earth and universe. Being present in this world, this soul (living force) accumulates all the forces resting in this world.

Then in the Katho Upanishad, it was stated –

Eko Bashi Sarbobhutanataratma Ekong Rupang Bahudha Ya
Karoti |
Tamatmasthang Yehanupashyainti Dhirasteshang Sukhang
Shashyatang Netaresham ||

(In Sanskrit language)

It means – Soul is unitary (one); controls all living and non-living beings; it is internal existence of all bodies; being one but it elaborates in many decorated ways; it is seen by learned wise persons in their own internal feelings, as such those persons enjoy real peace and happy in this world, others are deprived from that.

Again in the Brihadaranyaka Upanishad Rishi (saint) Jagbalka replied against the question of Maitree that –

Atmanastu Kamaya Sarbong Priyang Bhabati ||
(In Sanskrit language)

It means – Whatever things we like, those are for soul only. On the other hand in the Mundaka Upanishad, the way of developing or boosting soul was presented that –

Sateyn Lavyastupasa Hayes Atman Sameyganano
Brahamacharjen Nityam |
Antasarire Jyotirmoya Hi Shubhro Yang Pashyanti Yaty
Khindosha ||

(In Sanskrit language)

It means – Soul can be elevated or boosted by continuous pursuit of truthfulness (satya), perseverance austerly (tapas), correct knowledge and sex hormone preservation (avoiding sexual pleasure); then self soul will exist with high power in our internal bodies; only sinless yogis (saints) can achieve this soul and feel its presence.

In the Bible ^[10] Lord Jesus told, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You must be born again.’ The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear its sound, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit.” Here the Spirit indicates soul.

It is said in the Quran ^[11] that death describes as the taking up of the souls, which is accomplished by the Almighty Allah and the angel of death (Malakul Maut). Thus Raghieb Isfahani has stated that ‘Tawaffi’ implies taking up of the reality of a thing completely. Death of man is explained in such a way that when the death of a person approaches his worldly reality is completely taken up through the Almighty Allah and the angel of death and nothing from it is wasted. That which is taken up leaving nothing behind is nothing but the soul of man. If man had been only a body without a soul, nothing would have remained that it should be taken up by the Almighty Allah and the angels, as the body of every man after death will decay and deteriorate.

In primeval age different Indian yogis (saints) gather sufficient knowledge regarding the study of soul and its utilisation in social life. By this saint Valmiki brought life (rebirth) in the dead bodies of Bharat, Lakshmana, Shatrughna and their soldiers after being dead by Lav and Kush as recited in the Ramayana ^[4]. Then Adi Shankaracharya replaced his own soul in the dead body of a king to know the knowledge of family life. By this process, Lord Buddha came to know his previous life histories which deliberated to his disciples as noted down in Tripitaka ^[9]. In all other different religious literatures such as Tripitaka, Bible, Quran etc., the existence of soul in a living body and after being dead was proclaimed ^[9-11]. In modern age different Indian erudite saints earned enough knowledge about soul (atman) – among them, Ramakrishna Paramahansa was the best example, because his internal soul identified Naren and by stirring the soul of Naren, boosted him to Swami Vivekananda ^[8].

2. Existence of Soul Established by Planchette Process

In the present study about existence of a dead person is determined by the presence of his/her soul (spirit) in the earth by planchette process ^[12-15]. Planchette is an instrument with a cork (metallic base) played on a wooden board written different alphanumeric characters with Yes and No in two corners. In the cork 3-5 persons’ fingertips are placed, one or more persons act as mediums who think for the dead person whose soul has to be brought. Different planchette boards are shown in Fig. 1.

Fig. 1: Different Planchette Boards.

Planchette started from Victorian era 1852. Generally planchette is done by two procedures; any dead person's soul can be fetched on the fingertips of other living persons or replaced the soul of a living person, but replacing the living person's soul by the dead person's soul and vice versa is very dangerous process, because if the dead person's soul does not leave the living person's body within a certain time, then living person's soul cannot enter into his/her body, and ultimately the living person faces to death. Therefore, planchette is done by board or simply written on slate or earth. After appearing the soul of the dead person, the planchette does lose control over their fingers and brains (hypnotized), and the cork is moving automatically on the board or earth. When the dead person's soul is fetched on the living person/persons body or fingertips called medium or carrier, the medium loses control over him, then he/she behaves as the dead person whose soul is impressed. Then planchette doer (medium) can remind or answer all works of the dead person what he/she had done in his living period, e.g., if he/she (incoming soul) was a great poet, the medium can read or write his/her poems. If any past happenings are asked to the incoming soul during planchette period, the medium (incoming soul) tells or answers correctly; on the other hand if future happenings or predictions are asked, the incoming soul informs by guess – it may be correct or not, probability of correct future predictions are more from the soul of the dead person who was great and noble one during living period. For this reason, living scholars and saints are paid the highest respect all over the world, because their souls consist of very high frequency and high energy. There were so many learned persons in the world who were actively participated in planchette and completely believed the presence of soul after being dead, e.g., Michael Faraday, James Braid, William Butler Yeats from U. K., French chemist Michel Eugene Chevreul, American psychologists William James and Ray Hyman, Indian scholars and saints Gurudev Rabindranath Tagore, Rishi Aurobindo Ghosh, Ramakrishna Paramahansa etc.

3. Scientific Explanation of Soul

Actually what is the matter constituted in a soul? Sometimes past in western world (around 1930) it was told that a soul is made of ectoplasm named very fine matters which are not shown by eyes in light, but in complete darkness it may be visible like white colour fumes ^[12-15]. Later on scientists cannot find the existence of ectoplasm. Therefore, it is a wrong concept only. After going the study of soul as discussed in Hindu and other religious books, soul has complete resemblance with present day's waves in the form of very high frequency (f) and very low wave length (λ) range which has velocity equal to light waves. In each living being, the frequency of the waves (soul) differs from that of the other living beings. Also range of waves' (soul's) frequency for one kind of animals are separated from that of the other type of animals, and in a species of animals this range of frequencies for waves (souls) is fixed or constant. One animal is having certain frequency for its waves (self soul) belonging to that particular range of frequencies allotted for the species, although these allocation of frequencies of waves (souls) for different animals in the species are narrowly spaced. Therefore, each living body possesses certain fixed frequency waves, called as its soul (self soul), which identifies its nature, characteristics, behaviour and status. The intention of a living body is to upgrade its present frequency of the waves (soul) to higher frequency by continuous good or positive works in its physical life span. According to its achievement or work done, the frequency of its waves (soul) is either uplifted or downgraded, and the living body (person) is regarded either as superior or inferior. These waves (soul) having particular frequency is flowing inside the living body, when the living body is not able to afford its flow, i.e., the waves are obstructed due to failure of body organs, that waves (soul) are coming outside from the living body and the living body is turned to a dead body. Then the waves (soul) are mixed in air, it (waves or soul) travels in air and space with very high speed as the speed of light, it can take part to rebirth as new born living being, but some portion of its waves (soul) having particular frequency remain in air and space as existence of its earlier life for an indefinite period of time which can be called or caught by planchette process. For this reason, we can seize the soul (waves) of a person by planchette who was dead before a long time. Therefore, the waves (soul) of a living person bear the existence of the person after being dead. The reason of birth as a living being is to change the frequency of earlier life waves (soul) by continuous working in present life. There are existing waves having wide range of frequencies (from 0.1 Hz ~ infinity Hz) in the earth and universe which are told as Brahma (Ultimate Reality) in the Bhagavad Gita and other Hindu religious literatures, out of those waves, every living being is having very little portion (range of frequency) called as its self soul like a spoon of water from the ocean. The waves (soul) possessed by a living being is having very low potential or voltage (intensity), for that it is very difficult to identify waves (soul) by a measurement instrument such as frequency meter. However, the time will come when scientists and technologists will be able to overcome these difficulties and to analysis the characteristics of each waves (self soul) very accurately.

Now it is completely understood that the acquaintance of the soul in a living being is waves having certain range of high frequencies (greater than 10^{10} Hz) and very low wave lengths (less than 1 cm) with very low potential or voltage. This can be explained by Max Planck and Albert Einstein's Modern Quantum Theory (Mechanics) such as waves (soul) consist of photon particles which comprise of electromagnetic waves, [16-18] and the energy (E) possessed by the waves or photon particles are calculated. Photon is a massless and chargeless elementary particle, having both particle and wave properties. If the energy of each photon (waves or soul) is E ;

$$\text{Then, } E = hf \quad \dots\dots\dots(1)$$

Where h is called Planck's Constant, $h = 6.626 \times 10^{-34}$ joule-second; f is the frequency of the waves or soul.

If now velocity of waves (soul) is c and λ be the wave length of the waves (soul), we know, $f\lambda = c$, then $f = \frac{c}{\lambda}$,

$$\text{Therefore, } E = hf = \frac{hc}{\lambda} \quad \dots\dots\dots(2)$$

Velocity of a soul, c is equal to the velocity of light,

Hence, $c = 2.9979 \times 10^8$ meters/second or 1,86,000 miles/second.

Now if the wavelength (λ) of the waves (soul) is having low value and the frequency (f) of the waves is belonging to high value, that waves (soul) possess high energy (E) and can pass through a wide region in air and space [16-18]. As a result it is observed that if a person raised as great and advanced position in living life, his/her soul (waves) can reach to the upper level or plane in space or universe after being dead. So, if anybody is asked – "Who are you?", the person can reply – "I am waves (soul) like electromagnetic waves having specific frequency and wavelength range". Thus soul (waves) is immortal and profoundly exists after death of a living body. Hence, an earthly body is mortal or ending; but its soul (waves) remains forever as it is.

Therefore, soul is identified as waves belonging to the frequency spectrum of electromagnetic waves only.

4. The Effect of Doing Continuous Planchette on Medium

The living person, who is taking part in planchette process for picking the soul of the dead persons, is called medium or carrier. After doing planchette for a long period, the medium is becoming weak, laziness, less self-confidence and abnormal type, because each living body is constructed on the basis of a particular waves' (soul) flow having fixed frequency. When different waves having various frequencies are flowing through a living body (medium) at the time of planchette, the body cells of the medium are disturbed from natural growth and vegetation (water particles), the medium lost its synchronization with the frequency of its original waves (self soul), and as a result he/she cannot do normal function properly. Moreover, the circuits of his/her brain (neurons) are not under control of the medium's soul during planchette. For this, the medium confuses memory functions (power) very soon, and cannot lead a normal life. At the same time other organs like heart, lungs, kidney etc. of the medium are seriously damaged which makes his/her living life span short. Therefore, it is suggested to avoid participating in planchette process on regular basis. To enjoy the life in complete peace, the specific waves (self soul) has to flow throughout the living body without any obstruction, e.g., in sound sleep or meditation (Samadhi) condition.

Since our population rises in the world day by day, therefore the number of souls (waves) is increasing enormously. This can be explained by wave's theory. By changing the frequency very small amount like 10^{-14} Hz or less, we can have as many types of waves, e.g., we can collect water as per need from a sea.

5. Conclusion

It is observed that after departing physical body by a living being from this world, its own soul (self waves) exists in the world and universe for an indistinct period of time, which bears the memory of its living time. Therefore, the cause of living life is to flow of particular waves (self soul) having fixed frequency and wave length through a body, and continuously to upgrade its frequency. The guidance of a life and its future happenings (predictions) can be known from the soul of the dead person who was a learned great person in living time. It is perceived that the souls of the dead persons do not consider happy in this materialistic world. They are always happy and peaceful in their unobstructed motion, unhindered freeness, demand less wanting, and unfeeling enjoyment. When they are caught in planchette process, they express repeatedly – "Please leave me, I am in distress!"
