Abstract

This study commences a rigorous exploration of the astrological factors that may reveal an individual's potential to attain professional success in tennis. Grounded in the foundational principles of the Brihat Parasara Hora Shastra, the research establishes a sophisticated framework for identifying celestial indicators essential to excellence in the sporting realm. Through meticulous analysis, it explores the intricate interdependencies of planetary alignments and the dynamic functions of astrological houses within the natal chart, with a particular emphasis on the third and fifth houses, and the influence of planets such as Jupiter and Mars in cultivating the qualities and opportunities critical to achievement in tennis. This work further aims to elucidate the predictive potential of astrological insights, suggesting how these might gauge an individual's propensity for success. By doing so, the study contributes to an enriched academic dialogue on the nuanced interplay between astrology and aptitude within the specific context of sporting mastery.

Keywords: Tennis, sport, third house, fifth house, Jupiter, Mars, astrology, destiny

Introduction

Sally Kirkman ^[1] has analysed sporting events such as Wimbledon to forecast winners based on their Sun signs.

Umesh Chandra ^[2] has examined the natal charts of various tennis stars to infer the factors contributing to their career successes.

Bhavesh ^[3] sought to emphasize that a career in tennis is profoundly shaped by the interplay of all the houses in the natal chart.

Sally Kirkman ^[4] examined various Grand Slam tennis events and the participating players to assess their likelihood of success based on their birth dates and astrological signs.

Sachin Malhotra ^[5] scrutinised divisional charts of a tennis star to evaluate the impact of Raja and Dhana Yogas, as well as the influence of Saturn and other planets on their career trajectory.

This study rigorously examines astrological factors that may signify an individual's potential for professional success in tennis. It highlights the influence of key planetary alignments and specific houses—particularly the third or fifth houses, or their lords, in conjunction with Jupiter or Mars—in shaping qualities vital for achievement. By presenting these astrological insights, this research contributes to the academic discourse on the relationship between astrology and sporting excellence.

Methods and Materials

To evaluate an individual's potential for a career in tennis, it is essential to analyse the natal chart, focusing particularly on the interconnections between the third house, the fifth house, and their respective lords in relation to Jupiter or Mars. The presence of such relationships within the chart suggests a strong likelihood of success in tennis. For a comprehensive understanding of the influences exerted by Jupiter (symbolising knowledge), Mars (representing strength), the third house (associated with enthusiasm, decision-making, and courage), and the fifth house (linked to thought, skill, and intelligence), please refer to Chapters 3, 11, 14, and 16 of the Brihat Parashara Hora Shastra [6]. Drawing on these principles, a framework has been developed to assess an individual's potential to become a tennis star. Detailed rules are provided in Table 1 below. The existence of any one of these rules in a natal chart suggests that the individual is likely to be or to become a tennis star.

Table 1: Rules for evaluating tennis career potential through astrological principles

Rule	Rule Description
Rule-1	Jupiter or Mars is positioned in or aspects the 3rd house or its lord
Rule-2	Jupiter or Mars is in conjunction with the lord of the 3rd house
Rule-3	The lord of the 3 rd house is situated in the nakshatra of either Jupiter or Mars
Rule-4	Jupiter or Mars is positioned in or aspects the 5th house or its lord
Rule-5	Jupiter or Mars is in conjunction with the lord of the 5th house
Rule-6	The lord of the 5th house is situated in the nakshatra of either Jupiter or Mars

Results and Discussion

Table 2 presents the birth details of 100 tennis [7] stars, along with an analysis of their natal charts based on the framework outlined in Table 1, where the findings are thoroughly discussed.
